INTRODUCTION

This expedition follows the route of Ernest Shackleton, combining remote wildlife habitats with cultural and historical context while onboard a modern ice-class vessel designed for active exploration. The biodiversity & historical content afforded by this itinerary is one of the most unique opportunities for modern travellers to this remote region. There will be landings at major penguin colonies, opportunities to observe albatross, elephant seals, whales and other amazingly diverse wildlife led by an expert expedition team. The voyage includes educational programming such as science workshops and talks that help guests understand the region's history with an immersive look at the legacy of early polar exploration, including Shackleton's connection to South Georgia.

The Antarctic Peninsula portion of this expedition emphasizes time among icebergs, glaciers and landings at research stations, with flexible routing based on weather and wildlife activity. You can expect regular briefings from expert scientists, incredible opportunities for photography and close-range viewing of whales and seals from both the ship and Zodiacs. The experience is supported by a fully equipped modern expedition vessel offering comfortable accommodations, dining and onboard facilities for downtime between excursions.

DAY 2: Fly to Ushuaia & Embarkation

This morning, you will be picked up from your hotel and transferred to the airport in time for your charter flight to Ushuaia. Upon arrival, you will be transferred to the cruise ship for embarkation. Nestled in the foothills of the snow-capped Martial Range, Ushuaia's colourful streets and mismatched buildings cascade from the imposing mountains before coming to an abrupt halt at the shores of the Beagle Channel. As one of the world's southernmost cities, Ushuaia carries its 'end of the world' reputation well. The moody weather and dramatic surroundings certainly help. Board your boutique ship before departing for your journey through one of the most captivating wilderness regions of the world.

DAY 3: At Sea

Sea days are rarely dull. Take the time to sit back and let the world go by. The ship's observation decks provide stunning views of the passing ocean. A day at sea gives you the opportunity to mingle with other passengers and share your experiences of this incredible trip or head to our library which is stocked full of reference books. Get an expert's view in one of our on-board lectures or perhaps perfect your photography skills with invaluable advice from our onboard professional photographers.

DAY 4: West Point Island & Saunders Island

Birdlife is the big draw on this lush sheep-farming island, where thousands of rams and ewes roam. Settled by British explorers in 1765, the island's unique scenery includes golden sand beaches filled with the cacophony of rockhopper, gentoo and Magellanic penguin colonies, and the pillar-shaped nests of black-browed albatross. Nine of the Falklands' 14 endemic plants, including silvery buttercup and hairy daisy, grow here and are a real treat. Black-browed albatross grace the skies over this remote Falkland Island, while Commerson's dolphins play in its waters. With a sparse population of people and sheep, the island is also a sanctuary for fur seals, rockhopper penguins, Magellanic penguins and imperial cormorants, nesting amid its cliffs and the impressive Cliff Mountain. Hiking through the moss-covered terrain unveils beautiful wildflowers like pink-petalled Felton's.

DAY 5: Port Stanley

Anyone familiar with Britain's trademark red post boxes might spot a resemblance in this British outpost. Port Stanley, on East Falkland, is the tiny capital of the Falkland Islands and is small enough to get around on foot. The Historic Dockyard Museum is devoted to maritime history and exploration. Magellanic penguins gather on the beach at nearby Gypsy Cove, and sea lions and dolphins frolic in the harbour.

DAY 6: At Sea - Day 6 & 7

Sea days are rarely dull. Take the time to sit back and let the world go by. The ship's observation decks provide stunning views of the passing ocean. A day at sea gives you the opportunity to mingle with other passengers and share your experiences of this incredible trip or head to our library which is stocked full of reference books.
